How to Self-Isolate

Self-isolation means staying at home and avoiding contact with other people to help prevent the spread of disease to others in your home and your community. You must take the following measures.

Stay home:

- Do not leave your home/property unless to escape danger or to seek emergency medical care.
- Do not go to school, work, etc. You may go outside on your balcony or into your yard.
- You are not permitted to go for walks, except on your own property.
- You are not permitted to go for a drive, even if alone in the car.
- Make arrangements for food and other necessities to be delivered.
- If all guidance in this document is being followed, then household members who are not self-isolating may attend work, early learning and childcare facilities, or school and may pick up essential items, or run essential errands only.

Limit contact with others:

- Visitors are not permitted, even if outside and maintaining two metre distance.
- Do not use common areas that are shared with other households, for example laundry rooms and outdoor areas in an apartment complex.
- Avoid contact with others living in your household, especially those with chronic health conditions or compromised immune systems and older adults.
- Maintain a two-metre distance from others living in your household. If contact cannot be avoided, keep interactions brief and all individuals must wear a mask that covers the mouth and nose at all times.
- Sleep in a separate room.

Practice good hygiene:

- Keep your hands clean by washing them with soap and water frequently, practicing proper cough/sneeze etiquette and not touching your eyes, nose or mouth. Do not share personal items with household members including hand towels, bed linen, utensils, toothbrushes, and electronic devices.
- Use a separate bathroom if possible.
- If not possible, clean and disinfect commonly touched surfaces, including light switches, sinks, taps, toilets and door handles, after each use.
